GUARANTEEING G. G. BONDS

In order that more perfect provision may be made for the handling of farmers' grain in this province, the government of Alberta will guarantee the bonds of the Grain Growers' Grain Company, whose headquarters are at Winnipeg, to the extent of at least one million dollars. The company in return will build sixty elevators in the province during the year, and will be in condition to handle a large proportion of the crop of this year.

At the present time the company is doing a large business in Manitoba, and the extension of the operations of the company to Alberta will make it one of the largest firms on the continent. This is one of the things the Grain Growers' have been agitating for some time past. They will now be given an opportunity of giving a practical demonstration of what they can do in the way of benefitting the farmer in Alberta. Whether the government has yielded to the G. G. request with the expectation of receiving their support later on, or whether they are really desirous of helping the farmer in competition with the elevator trusts, will be seen when an occasion occurs. If the farmers will only stand shoulder to shoulder and keep their, it is pretty certain that other planks in the platform of the G. G. will not be ignored. The farmers have the remedies in their own hands—if they would only stick together and let party politics go.

THEN AND NOW.

President Tait has declared himself unequivocally in favor of settling the dispute between the U. S. and Great Britain over Panama canal tolls. In the event of the pending negotiations between the two countries failing in bringing about a settlement. It is funny what a difference the result of the late presidential election has made in President Tait's opinion. He willing signed the bill which has smashed the Hay-Pauncefote treaty which has caused so much astonishment and hard feeling and discussion since, but then you know that was just on the eve of the presidential election.

THE STRONG-ARM AND ARM-STRONG.

The strong-arm of the law soaks Armstrong to the tune of $20,000 for jollying with the affections of a young lady. The largest verdict ever given in a breach of promise in Alberta or the Dominion of Canada, $20,000 and costs, was awarded by a Calgary jury on Saturday afternoon to Miss Louise Collard, 27 years of age, a young school teacher at Nanton, who was suing Martin Jas. Armstrong, owner of the Nanton Valley ranch, for failure to keep his promise to marry her. The trial, which consumed five days, was fiercely fought and the verdict created quite a sensation and was also loudly applauded in court.

The case was followed with great interest in this neighborhood, where the plaintiff is well known, and general satisfaction is felt at the outcome of the trial.

The Alberta legislature is called to meet February 3rd.

Calgary's solicitor is to receive $6000.00 a year. Like to swap salaries with him for a year.

The G. G. Association have just passed a resolution, condemning the Borden navy policy. Who wouldn't for $1,000,000?

Now, watch out for the showmen of offers for the hand and heart—and the $20,000—of the fair young plaintiff in the breach of promise of marriage trial—out of pure sympathy, of course, for the unfortunate young lady.

The board of trade of Saskatchewan is moving to have copper money introduced into Saskatchewan. They contend that one cent pieces will help the poor to reduce the cost of living, as it would give them the odd cents in making purchases. Which is good horse-sense.

Fifty-three girls are under quarantine in the Calgary local V. W. C. A. club house for smallpox. Every girl in the building was vaccinated immediately, and the plate put under medical taboo, when it was ascertained that one of the girls was affected by a mild form of the disease. Daily prayer Psalm xci. vs. 2 & 6.

The Calgary Albertan and the News-Telegram are having an "argie" as to whether Geo. Lane, the millionaire cattle man, should have 6 cents and 7 cents per lb. for his beef in the Calgary market or 10 cents and 12 cents in the Chicago market. In the meantime the average working man is wondering where he is going to get off at for his beef steak if beef sells at 10 and 12 cents per lb. live weight. He is also trying to figure out where the lower cost of living is going to come in. The working man, oh, he be d—d!

Martin Armstrong characterizes the late breach of promise of marriage trial, in which he was soaked for $20,000 and costs, as a pure case of blackmail by a white female, and threatens to appeal the case. But say, Martin what about those letters that were put in as evidence, which you wrote to the plaintiff, which were signed "Mart" and "Marty"? Had you a prophetic vision that you were soon to become a "Marty-r"?

No, we are sure there is no truth in the statement that there is an "understanding" between the Calgary city fathers and local breweries for the former not to make any provision for a purer water supply, and, therefore, no citizens from here can make that excuse to drink "tangle-leg" when visiting the city. Nor is there any truth that the breweries are giving the city a rake-off while the city's water supply remains in its present fishy condition.

Alderman T. A. P. Frost of Calgary made the following startling statements, which appears in Wednesday's Albertan: "There are 200 girls under eighteen years of age on the verge of illegitimate motherhood in Calgary; that there are private rooms in connection with some of the most popular grills in the city where mere children are wine and dined; and that there are licensed chauffeurs who are picking up young girls in loads." If this statement is anything like true, it shows the moral condition of the city of Calgary to be in an appalling condition, notwithstanding all its churches and excellent police force.

A Battle Creek church choir failed to show up, and the minister brought a photograph to the rescue. The congregation liked canned music so well that now they're thinking of canning the whole choir.

GOOD JOB FOR SOMEbody

It is not in its power to purchase the greatest valued money lies. The feeling of independence, and of security against the effects of adverse fortune that a reserve fund gives you, is infinitely more satisfying than the passing gratification which you would obtain by spending it.

Small amounts—which you will hardly miss—deposited regularly, will gradually, but surely, accumulate to a sum large enough to insure against the effects of business reverses or loss of employment.
